empty nesters, retirees, and those soon to be retired. Her own experience with the challenge of discovering work that utilized her experience, talents, and interests was at times frustrating, humbling, and a lesson in the value of patience. The lessons learned during this journey have been provided to audiences across the country. They are now available to everyone. Kennette is a business consultant and success coach. She lives in San Leandro, CA, and offers workshops throughout the country on Discovering Your Passion and Finding Work Passion in Your Workplace.

Another heart is waiting to sing

Hearts are singing from coast-to-coast

"If you or someone you know, have been searching for work that excites and invigorates, the process starts here."

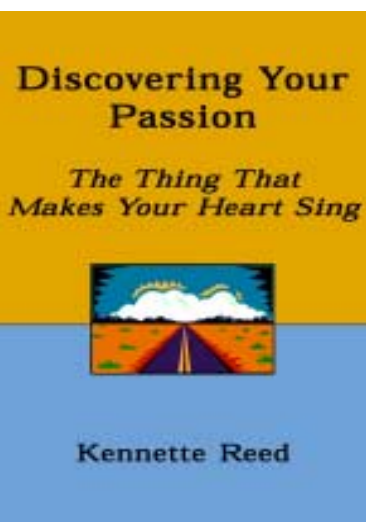

-Shannon Carter, Concord, CA

"This workbook delivers assessments worth hundreds of dollars, for a fraction of that cost."

-Kelvin Booker, Richmond, VA

Discovering Your Passion offers the tools needed to begin the journey of uncovering the joy and excitement that comes when individual skills, talents, and innate desires are revealed. This workbook will:

- Reveal a self-paced method of passion discovery
- Uncover previously untapped skills and interests
- Inspire possibility thinking
- Stimulate introspective thinking
- Map future work opportunities
- Provide step-by-step guidelines for setting and reaching goals

This is the ideal book for:

- Career changers
- Retirees (current & future)
- Displaced workers
- Empty nesters
- Anyone who hates their job

Heart's everywhere are ready to sing.
